Vanderbilt, with his one hundred millions, permitted an uncle of his to die in the Brooklyn parsonage. But it is said, that the millionaire opened his purse and paid the funeral expenses.

Senator Sawyer gave another dinner party in Washington on Saturday evening. The guests numbered nineteen, and among them were the leading spirits of both houses of Congress.

The soldiers of the country propose three cheers for the President. He refuses to nominate Fitz John Porter, and thereby virtually restore him for his cowardly treachery during the war.

Secretary of State Timme has published an official report of the number of employees of the Legislature last winter, the amount each one drew from the State, and the total cost of the employees. There were 175 employees—71 in the Senate and 104 in the Assembly, and the aggregate amount paid to them was $29,899.95.

A dispatch from Washington to the Milwaukee Republican says that Congressman Williams has been invited by the chairman of the committee of arrangements to deliver the oration at Antietam on the 30th of May, Decoration day. He has been obliged to decline, in consequence of daily engagements with his committee. Mr. Williams has twice delivered orations at this anniversary, once at Arlington and again at Gettysburg.

There is a family at Madison in this State, called the Kollocks. Four of the seven members of the family are sisters, who, so far, have had somewhat remarkable careers. Dr. Mary Kollock Bennett, the eldest sister, graduated at the Woman's Medical College, of Chicago, and is now a successful practitioner in that city. "The next, Dr. Harriet Kollock, graduated in the medical department at Ann Arbor, Mich., nine years ago, since which time she has been eminently successful in her professional work. The third, the Rev. Florence Kollock, graduated at Canton Theological College some years since, and is now doing a good work as pastor in a beautiful church, built for her by her parish during the last two years, at Englewood, a fine suburban town of Chicago. Dr. Jennie C. Kollock, the youngest sister, graduated in the dental department of Ann Arbor, Mich., last March, together with a class of thirty-six gentlemen, she being the only lady, and passing the highest examination of any in the class. She is now establishing herself successfully as a dental practitioner in Chicago."

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Frequent mention has been made in the columns of the Gazette in regard to an effort to establish postal savings banks in the United States on the principle on which the successful system in the British dominions has been founded. There is now a bill before Congress which provides for the establishment of these banks, and while Mr. James was Postmaster General he gave the measure hearty support, and recommended that the government pay three per cent upon deposits received, of which two per cent should go to the depositors and one per cent for managing the banks. The government being able to do this without loss, removes the objections that some make to the adoption of the postal savings systems.

But the bank superintendent of the State of New York, and Mr. C. C. Nichols, of the Boston Five-cent savings bank, are out with objections to the postal savings banks for the alleged reasons that the system would result in the complete extinction of all the savings banks now existing in the country; that our country is too large and too thinly populated through its extent to make such a system generally available; that government monopoly and government consolidation tend to kill or paralyze individual enterprise which would bring ruin to our industries.

Mr. S. T. Merrill, of Belmont, who is one of the most active champions of the postal savings banks, and who is thoroughly informed as to the workings of all the savings systems of this country and Europe, recently furnished the Inter Ocean with an article which not only reviews all the objections made against the postal savings banks, but produces the best possible arguments to show that this system of providing savings institutions for the people would result directly to the advantage of trade, commerce, manufacturing, and to all other industries, and especially to the very large class who have small savings. There is no country in the world where the postal savings banks have been so thoroughly tried as in England. Since their establishment the cost of supporting the poor has been greatly reduced and this advancement is attributed largely to the influence of savings banks. Its success has been so marked in that country, that 3,800 of these banks will be opened in India during the present month; and France, which made a great stride toward encouraging industry and frugality when it organized its school savings banks, has recently put in operation the postal savings system and its success in that country is not questioned. If England and France can do these things, why cannot the United States? Whether the bill now before Congress, will pass, is not certain, but judging from the weak objections to the measure, and the very many strong points in its favor, there are indications that the bill will become a law.

COLD BLOODED MURDER.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 15.—Captain William H. Pugh, of Racine, was murdered last Saturday morning at an early hour in that city by "Hardy" Clifford, one of the most generally known sporting men of Milwaukee. The circumstances, in brief, were that Clifford and Pugh had been betting on a walking match—Racine is famous for walking matches—a dispute arose about the delivery of the stakes, and Clifford shot and killed Pugh. Clifford at once surrendered himself to the officers, and was lodged in the jail at Racine.

Captain Pugh was one of the best known lake captains, was a man of wealth, and was a general favorite among marine men and among his countrymen, the Welsh people. Both men were undoubtedly under the influence of liquor, and the exact circumstances of the killing are yet in doubt.

Saturday night there was great excitement in Racine, and it was generally supposed that Clifford would be lynched; but the night wore away and no violence was attempted. The situation yesterday is reported from Racine as follows:

RACINE, April 16.—The streets to-day have been pretty well filled with people, particularly Welshmen, and the talk of lynching Clifford continues. There are many who believe that the murderer is in more danger from mob violence to-night than he was last night, as the crowd there was under the impression that any assault upon the jail would be met with armed resistance from the militia. Some express the opinion that Clifford will be lynched on the evening after Captain Pugh's funeral. At this hour it is really impossible to tell whether the mob will do anything or not. There is a good deal of talk of lynching, but there is no leader, and Clifford may have a chance to be heard in court. There is certainly no decrease in the general feeling against Clifford, and his lynching is likely to occur at any time.

Frank Bardal, North Bennett street, Buffalo, says: "I have tried your Spring Blossom as a family medicine and have never come across anything to do so much good in so short a time in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and derangement of the stomach; I strongly recommend it." Price 50 cents, trial bottles, 10 cents.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

SPRINGFIELD, April 15.—The memorial services at the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, on this, the seventeenth anniversary of his death, under the auspices of the Lincoln Guards of Honor, were in keeping with the sacred nature of the occasion, and were attended by members of the Legislature and by citizens in general. A double quartette sang "In Memoriam Abraham Lincoln," and Governor Callum delivered an address suitable to the commemoration. United States District Attorney Connolly also paid tribute to the memory of the martyr. Reading of extracts from Lincoln's speeches, and a recital by Mrs. E. S. Johnson closed the exercises, the assembly dispersing after singing "America."

SENATOR SAWYER'S PARTY

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Senator Sawyer gave a dinner party at his residence, No. 1829 I street, last evening, to a party of prominent members of Congress. There were present Senators Harrison of Indiana, Conger of Michigan, Hale of Maine, Sherman of Ohio, Ferry of Michigan, McMillan of Minnesota, McDill of Iowa, Frye of Maine, Voorhees of Indiana, Bock of Kentucky, Bayard of Delaware, Pendleton of Ohio, Cocke of Missouri, Representatives Fount, Guenther, Williams and Deuster of Wisconsin, and Flower of New York, and Mr. Frank Howe, son of the Postmaster General.

A STRANGE SUICIDE.

MILWAUKEE, April 16.—Bay View had a sensation yesterday afternoon. Hon. David J. Price killed himself by shooting, after having first attempted the life of his wife. The shooting caused intense excitement throughout the village, as Price was known by nearly every person in the place, having been a merchant and postmaster there for years. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Senate in 1879, running against Hon. George H. Paul. He contested but was defeated.

The fall of 1880 he was the Republican candidate for the Assembly and was elected and served. Last fall he failed in business and during the exposition kept a saloon on Cedar street. Mr. Price has been drinking to excess of late.

THE GOSSIPS AGOG.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The appointment of Mr. Chandler to the navy portfolio has developed an interesting phase of Washington social life which sets the gossips agog with speculation. It will be remembered that when J. Wilkes Booth was shot, the picture of a beautiful young lady, a reigning society belle, was found on his person. The original of the picture was recognized in the person of Miss Hale, the daughter of the leading politician and statesman, and a lady of whom Booth had become deeply and seriously enamored. What encouragement he had received was not precisely known, but there was enough between them to form the basis of a good many romances, which afterward appeared in the public press. Miss Hale afterward became Mrs. Chandler, and is now the wife of the secretary of the navy. The same whirlwind of time which has brought this about has also made the then young son of the martyred Lincoln secretary of war. It now appears, according to official etiquette, that it is the duty of the secretary of war to escort the wife of his next in rank to dinner on state occasions. He must take the wife of the secretary of the navy. Secretary Lincoln, in short, must escort the one-time sweetheart of the assassin of his distinguished father. Therefore society is shocked.

MASON'S CASE.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Attorney General and the Judge Advocate General will appear to-morrow in the Supreme Court of the United States in response to the notice of the application for writ of habeas corpus made by the Lady Bros., of New York. The latter gentlemen, accompanied by the Hon. N. C. Moak, of Albany, will also be present. It is reported that the representative of the United States will deny the jurisdiction of the Supreme court in the case. The Hon. J. W. Wells, of New York, thinks that the writ of habeas corpus will be allowed, and that Mason will soon be free. If not, they expect to see his sentence commuted.

We take pleasure in informing our readers that by enclosing a three-cent stamp to Foster, Milburn & Co., Buffalo, N. Y., they can secure, free, a set of their fine lithograph picture cards, which are an ornament to any household.

WHAT HIS COUNSEL SAYS.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Hon. Jere Wilson, of the counsel for Howgate, said to-night that while he had little doubt that Howgate would return before the day of his trial, his action of last week was most regrettable. He said that within six weeks he would have been acquitted had he remained quietly in jail. He thought his escape would prejudice his case. However, he is confident that he can procure his acquittal. This confidence is not generally shared.

ABDUCTION.

A grandson of Congressman Jay A. Hubbell stolen in Wisconsin last November.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Sunday papers here publish this morning a story of the abduction of a grandson of the Hon. Jay A. Hubbell, the Michigan Congressman and chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, which rivals the famous Charlie Ross case. According to the papers, the abduction occurred last November, and has been kept a profound secret ever since. The abducted child, a 6-year-old boy, is the son of Mr. W. W. Dickinson, who married a daughter of Mr. Hubbell. The Dickinsons reside in a small town in Wisconsin, where Mr. Dickinson had some trouble with the rougher element of the town, who swore that they would be revenged upon him, but he paid no attention to their threats. About the 1st of November last his son Willie suddenly disappeared, and up to the present time has not been seen by any of the family. Mrs. Dickinson became almost crazed over the loss of her boy, and for some time refused to be comforted. At last she determined to make an effort and undertake the search in person. A notorious character named William Morris was last seen in company with the child, and as he did not return to the town for some time, the supposition was that he was the abductor. Mrs. Dickinson then commenced a prolonged pursuit that led across the United States, following her child from one place to another, at times being only a few hours behind the fugitives. She arrived at Culpepper, Va., early last week, and found that the party had left the day before, and when going to the house where they stopped a pair of trousers upon which Mrs. Dickinson had worked the monogram of her little boy was found. She also learned that they had purchased tickets for this city. She at once came on here, and at present is at Mr. Hubbell's residence, No. 4 Iowa circle. Upon investigation it was found that the persons had left the train at Branch Station, a small place six miles this side of Culpepper, and to guard against future escape, nearly every postal agent has been supplied with a description of Morris, together with his photograph, in the hope of having him collared at once.

Vaccination, Primitive and Modern.

Nearly a century has elapsed since the discovery of Dr. Jenner that vaccine virus was an antidote for smallpox so moved the gratitude of the British Government that it gave him nearly half as much money as our own people raised for Mrs. Garfield. When he died a splendid monument was erected to his memory, and he is ranked everywhere among the benefactors of humanity. Yet it is only fair to say that the experience of late years has not sustained all the hopes at first entertained. We have been told by an aged physician, whose studies began while vaccination was still a novelty, that his instructor advised him not to waste much time in reading about smallpox, as it would soon disappear from among men.

The failure of this prediction has arisen in part from the neglect of vaccination, and in part, also, from the fact that what is recognized as virus has been weakened by transmission through a long line of human subjects. It has also been more than once combined with diseases far worse than that which it was intended to keep off. People who have been more than once vaccinated, or who have supposed that they were, have been attacked with smallpox in severe, and perhaps fatal forms, while others have been made wretched invalids for life. These facts have led to an organized opposition to vaccination, which has its headquarters in England, though its ramifications extend to other countries, our own among the number. It publishes tracts and reports, helps poor people to fight the agents of compulsory vaccination, and boldly asserts that unmodified smallpox is preferable to that which may come after vaccination, perhaps with deplorable accompaniments. Of course this is exaggeration and absurdity. One has only to glance at the literature of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries to find abundant evidence of the fearful ravages of variola, and of the terror which it inspired in palace and in hovel. Still, it may be questioned whether much of what passes for vaccine virus is really such. If long humanized it may have become inert, if not improved. Recognizing this possibility, it has become the fashion to take virus directly from the cow, and the severity of the symptoms following vaccination from this source has been thought to prove the wisdom of the step. Yet it does not follow that every pustule found on a cow is identical with that observed and experimented from Jenner. It is certainly true that while in the early days of vaccination one operation was thought enough to protect one during life, it is now held that repeated vaccinations are essential—that the process should be gone through with at least as often as smallpox threatens to become epidemic. This may be a conclusion established by more careful observation, but it seems to indicate that the quality of the virus has been impaired. We have been told of a man who was vaccinated in the early years of this century by matter brought direct from Jenner. When his arm was well, to test the value of the process, he was inoculated with smallpox virus. He went to a pest house to await results. He did not have varioloid, even in its mildest form. Could as much be hoped from much of the vaccination of the present day?—Exchange.

Coffee Taverns.

An English lady writes that coffee taverns are not only great promoters of temperance, but also pay their way as an investment. One of the best coffee taverns is in a town in Hertfordshire. The window is painted half-way up, showing the words "Coffee Tavern," and above hangs a small sign telling that lodging can be had, and nice, neat rooms they are with pretty frilled muslin curtains, fit for a lady's boudoir.

A large shop is fitted up with counters for the huge tea and coffee urns; small tables are dotted about, as in a foreign restaurant, and at the side there is a large table given up to newspapers and magazines; in the bar-parlor there is a cat-boat board.

If properly managed the experience of most of those who have established coffee taverns over the country is, that they are not only self-supporting, but remunerative; and to bring this about, the eatables and drinkables must be of the best, and the place rendered as attractive as possible. Such establishments are calculated to improve, raise and refine the general character of the people. A breakfast cup of tea or coffee is sold at the rate of two cents, and a slice of bread and butter for one cent. The cheap coffee restaurants here charge five cents, and the stuff is anything but inviting; the places, too, are dingy and miserable looking.

Let the temperance people get up a company to establish coffee taverns such as they have in England, and not only will they advance the temperance cause, but also obtain a good dividend on the investment.—Philadelphia Item.

It Pays to be Polite.

A gentleman at Bridgeport was an interested and amused party in an episode which occurred at the South Norwalk Depot. While strolling about the platform waiting for a train, he saw a woman slip on something and nearly fall. Full of sympathy and politeness, he hurried to the rescue and assisted her to rise. As she assumed an upright attitude, however, something escaped from her benefactor's eye. It was nothing else but his valise, which he had left in the depot a minute before, and which it appears the distressed female was trying to get away with. The gentleman is more than ever convinced that politeness does pay.—New Haven Palladium.

Farming in Dakota.

"Yes, sir," resumed the Dakota man as the crowd of agriculturists drew back from the bar and seated themselves around a little table. "Yes, sir; we do things on a rather sizable scale. I've seen a man on one of our big farms start out in the spring and plant a straight furrow until fall. Then he turned round and harvested back."

"Carry his grub with him?" asked a Brooklyn farmer, who raises cabbages on the outskirts.

"No, sir. They follow him up with a steam holt and have always relays of men to change plows for him. We have seen big farms up there, gentlemen. A friend of mine owned one on which he had to give a mortgage, and I pledge you my word, the mortgage was due on one end before they could get it recorded at the other. You see it was laid off in counties."

There was a murmur of astonishment, and the Dakota man continued:

"I got a letter from a man who lives in my orchard, just before I left home, and it had been three weeks getting to the dwelling-house, though it traveled day and night."

"Distances are pretty wide up there, ain't they?" inquired a New Utrecht agriculturist.

"Reasonably, reasonably," replied the Dakota man. "And the worst of it is, it breaks up families so. Two years ago I saw whole families prostrated with grief. Women yelling, children howling and dogs barking. One of my men had his camp truck packed on seven four-mule teams and he was around bidding everybody good-bye."

"Where was he going?" asked a Gravesend man.

"He was going half-way across the farm to feed the pigs," replied the Dakota man.

"Did he ever get back to his family?"

"It isn't time for him yet," returned the Dakota gentleman. "Up there we see young married couples to milk the cows, and their children bring home the milk."

"I understand you have mines up that way," ventured a Jamaica turnip planter.

"Yes, but we only use the quartz for fencing," said the Dakota man, testing the blades of his knife with his thumb, preparatory to whetting it on his boot.

"It wouldn't pay to crush it, because we can make more money on wheat. I put in eighty-nine hundred townships of wheat last spring."

"How many acres would that be?"

"We don't count by acres. We count by townships and counties. My yield was $68,000,000 on wheat alone, and I'm thinking of breaking up from eighty to a hundred more counties next season."

"How do you get the help for such extensive operations?" asked the New Utrecht man.

"Oh, labor is cheap," replied the Dakota man. "You can get all you want for from $29 to $47 a day. In fact, I never paid over $18."

"Is land cheap?"

"No, land is high. Not that it costs anything, for it don't; but under the laws of the Territory you have got to take school or none. I was in luck. I had a friend in Yankton who got a bill through the Legislature, allowing me 420,000 square miles, which is the smallest farm there, though it is—"

"Look here," said the bar-keeper, as the Eastern husbandmen strolled out in a bunch to consider the statement, "is all this thing you've been telling true?"

"Certainly," responded the Western man; "at least it is a modification of what I saw in a Dakota paper that was wrapped around a pair of shoes last night. I don't dare to put it as strong as the paper did, for no one would believe it. You can state that last round of drinks and I'll pay in the morning. I live right here on Myrtle avenue."

"Champagne Cider."

The following are the methods by which some of the beverages found in the market under the name of "champagne cider" are made: 1. Cider (pure apple) three barrel; glucose syrup, four gallons; wine-spirit, four gallons. The glucose is added to the cider, and after twelve days' storage in a cool place the liquid is clarified with one-half gallon of fresh skimmed milk and eight ounces of dissolved isinglass. The spirit is then added, and the liquor bottled on the fourth day afterward. 2. Pale "vinous" cider, one hoghead; wine-spirit, three gallons; glucose, about thirty pounds. The liquid is stored in casks in a cool place for about one month, when it is fined down with two quarts of skimmed milk and bottled. Much of this and similar preparations is doubtless sold for genuine champagne. 3. Fine apple cider, twenty gallons; wine-spirit, one gallon; sugar, six pounds. Fine with one gallon skimmed milk after two weeks' storage in wood, and bottle.

A single bottle will prove to you its merit.

DR. ROGER'S VEGETABLE WORM SYRUP instantly destroys worms and removes the Secretions which cause them.

A CLEVERMAN who enjoys the substantial benefits of a fine farm was slightly taken down by his Irish plowman, who was sitting at his plow, in a tobacco field, resting his horse. The reverend gentleman, being a great economist, said, with much seriousness: "Patrick, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a stub-sythe here, and be hubbing a few bushes along the fence while the horse is resting?" Pat, with quite as serious a countenance as the divine wore himself, replied: "Sir, wouldn't it be hell for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit, and when the congregation are singing, to put 'em awble to be ready for the pot?" The reverend gentleman laughed heartily and left.

Reining a Horse.

One of the most senseless, and yet a very common habit of the American people, is the reining of driving horses so tight as to inflict upon them a great deal of pain, under the mistaken idea that it adds to the stylish appearance of the animal. When people see a horse's head drawn up by the bearing rein, and see him stepping short and champing the bit, tossing his head and rattling the harness, they assume that he is acting in the pride of his strength and fullness of spirit, whereas the animal is really suffering agonies of pain, and is trying to gain by these movements momentary relief. To our view, a horse looks better, and we know he feels better, when pursuing a natural, leisurely, swinging gait. It is as necessary for his head to oscillate in response to the motions of his body as it is for a man's hands to do the same thing. A horse allowed his head will work easier and last longer than one on which a check is used.

Blinds are another popular absurdity in the use of horses. They collect dust, pound the eye and are in every way a nuisance. A horse that cannot be driven with safety without them should be sold to a railroad grader. No colt should be broken to them.—Lincoln (Neb) Journal.
